W. M. FRAZIER
Funeral services for William Melson Frazier, 64, of Washington, who died Tuesday will be held at 10 a.m. Friday at Washington Presbyterian Church by Francis Holt. Graveside services will be in charge of Masons. Arrangements are in charge of Herndon Funeral Home.

Surviving are his wife, two daughters, Mrs. Frances Hinds of Md., Mrs. Nancy Mason, Kent, Wash., a sister, Mrs. Lois Martin of Okla., and a brother, Boon Hudspeth of Okla.

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Former Gov. Oscar Rennebohm died Tuesday in his home at the age of 79. Rennebohm, a Republican, served as Wisconsin's chief executive from 1947 to 1950. Rennebohm, also a drug store chain owner, had suffered from a heart ailment for the last three years.

WEST CHILTINGHAM, England (AP) — Robin Douglas-Horne, a society pianist and writer, was found dead in his country house Tuesday. He was the nephew of former Prime Minister Sir Alex Douglas-Horne. Douglas-Horne, 36, had unsuccessfully courted Princess Margaretha of Sweden. Police said an empty pill bottle lay near the body.

Ruling Soon on Illegal Dove Hunt

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Municipal Court Judge Bob Bailey says he will announce a ruling Tuesday on a petition contending that he doesn't have jurisdiction in a case in which a wildlife official is charged with illegal dove hunting.

Bailey took the petition under advisement Tuesday.

The petition was filed by Robert Apple, president of the Arkansas Wildlife Federation, who is charged with hunting doves illegally in the Holla Bend Wildlife Refuge, a closed refuge. Apple has said he thought he was hunting on his own property.

Apple claimed that the court lacked jurisdiction, saying if there were a violation, it occurred in Yell County and not Pope County, the area of the court's jurisdiction.

Czech-Soviet Treaty About Complete

MOSCOW (AP) — Czechoslovak Premier Oldrich Cernik returned to Prague today after two days of Kremlin talks to complete a treaty legalizing the Soviet occupation of his country.

Unofficial reports said agreement was reached Tuesday on terms of the treaty giving formal approval to the presence in Czechoslovakia of troops from the Soviet Union and other Communist countries.

Cernik and his delegation were seen off at the airport by Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, Defense Minister Andrei A. Grechko and other officials.

Informed sources said Cernik would present the treaty to government officials in Prague for their approval and a signing ceremony will be held "in the nearest future," probably in Prague.

Kosygin is expected to sign for the Soviet Union.

A brief communique Tuesday said the Czechoslovaks and the Soviets "exchanged views on... the question of the terms for the temporary stay of Soviet troops" in Czechoslovakia.

Details were not revealed, but reports from Prague have indicated the Soviets want to keep between 50,000 and 100,000 troops in the country. Estimates of the total occupation force range from 275,000 to 600,000.

The Russians promised to start pulling out troops as soon as liberalizing trends in Czechoslovakia were halted and the position of the Communist party was strengthened. The absence of criticism in the Soviet press in recent days indicates progress is being made toward those goals.

panicking now... subsequently he is going to swing wilder and wilder.

Humphrey told cheering students in St. Louis, meanwhile, that polls show him losing votes when he makes civil rights statements — but he'll not change his stand.

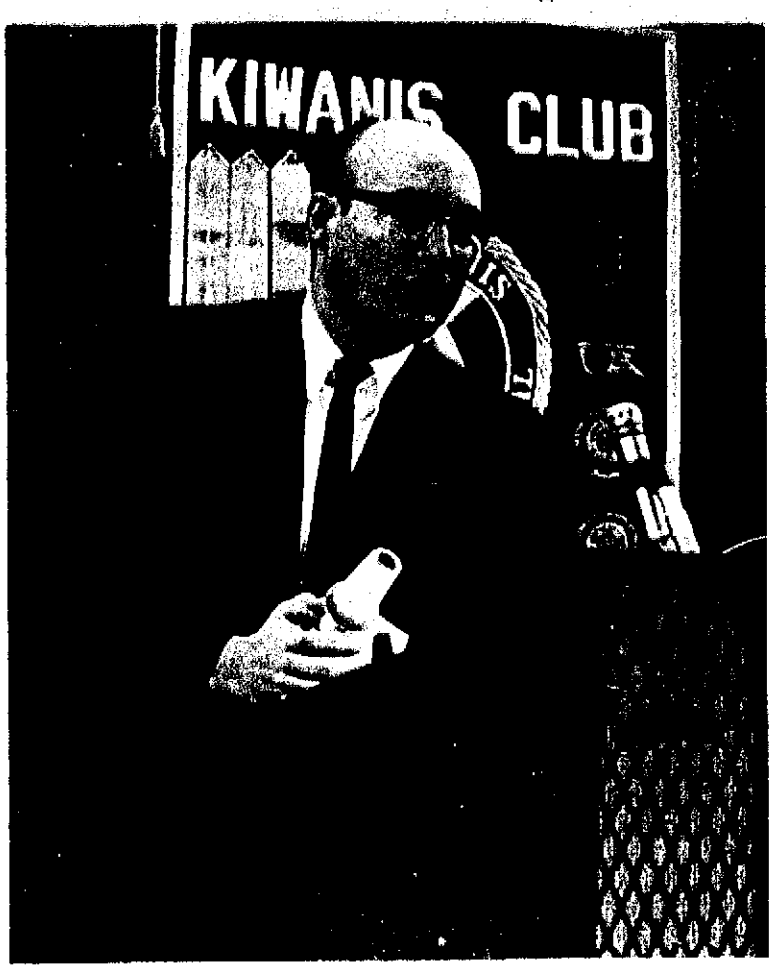

"I do not intend, in order to win this election," he said, "to compromise a lifetime of dedication to the cause of human rights."

The Democrat said that a century of deprivation requires not only equal opportunity for the underprivileged but even "a little extra help."

Earlier, Humphrey elaborated on the North Vietnam bombing halt statement he had made in a nationally televised appearance.

U.S. Nuclear Allies Get Details

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON AP — The United States has given NATO allies a detailed outline of how demonstration-type nuclear bursts could be used to show an invading enemy the West is not afraid to resort to such weapons.

The American document was carried to Europe last week by Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford.

"I said I would stop the bombing as an acceptable risk for peace—period," he said. "But I said period, not comma or semicolon."

Humphrey aides said meanwhile there was no response from Nixon to Humphrey's offer to pay for a three-way televised debate Sunday night.

Prospects for any televised debate dimmed when a Federal Communications Commission spokesman said Tuesday a National Press Club proposal for a Nixon-Humphrey debate "would be evading the whole purpose" of the equal time law.

The press club had offered to host a two-way debate that could be televised as a news event and skirt Nixon's objection to any debate that would require equal time and additional attention for Wallace.

It assumes added interest due to the Soviets' August invasion of Czechoslovakia although it was prepared before then.

The defense chief submitted the paper to the seven-nation meeting of NATO's nuclear planning group.

Conclusions of the study are secret. But in candid conversations with newsmen, U.S. officials suggested one or two well-placed nuclear detonations could be considered in the early phase of a massive, uncontrollable assault by enemy forces over NATO borders.

The idea would be, as one official explained it, to show an enemy "that you were prepared to use nuclear weapons to deter him."

The study also sets forth disadvantages to such a move, among them the possibility that even limited nuclear shots might carry both sides into a devastating major atomic exchange.

U.S. officials discussed the possible use of nuclear weapons, particularly the demonstration-type shots, far more openly than at any time in recent years—perhaps to emphasize American backing of the alliance at this time of tension in Europe.

Clifford made one statement after another in his swing through Western Europe, reaffirming U.S. support of NATO and saying the United States "would take whatever action was necessary" to repel any attack.

complete, Haley said, the board is declining to say whether the shooting was right or wrong.

A total of 23 inmates were wounded by birdshot from eight shotgun blasts fired by Gary Haydis, associated superintendent for custody, and other civilian prison guards. All but Homer Goad, 30, of Natchez, Miss., were hospitalized at the prison infirmary. A doctor said these was a chance Goad might lose the sight of the eye that was penetrated by a pellet.

The trouble began Monday morning when about 100 inmates refused to work until prison officials heard some grievances from inmates.

Meanwhile, it was learned that prison officials had been tipped Sunday night that there was to be trouble.

However, according to Prison Supt. Victor Urban, "our information was that it would occur in the mess hall."

"We would have used tear gas if it had occurred in the mess hall and made them exit out one door," Urban said Tuesday.

Urban said he and Haydis arranged for security late Sunday night after receiving the tip.

Asked why tear gas was not used instead of birdshot, Urban said the particular situation demanded more control. He said the bursting of tear gas bombs would have caused the inmates to scatter uncontrollably.

Bob Scott, the governor's aide for prison affairs, said the birdshot was the "smallest size you could get." He said the reason the shotguns were loaded was because "they anticipated using them."

He said the shots were meant "obviously to sting them with no intention to injure."

Asked if there was any evidence that politics entered into the sitdown plan, Haley said, "No, not be design."

He said it was traditional in an election year for tension to build up among inmates.

Also investigating the incident are FBI agents and the U.S. attorney general's office.

ments and provided a hefty annual tax to the state was preferable to any other course.

Rockefeller said if the Class 6 permits now being issued by the state Alcoholic Beverage Control Board allowing the sale of mixed drinks are ruled illegal, he would "shut everything down."

At his rally, Rockefeller said that Crank had accused him of doing nothing in terms of industrial development.

The governor claimed that in the past 20 months, 20,000 new jobs and 102 new industries had opened up in the state. He said he knew of four more new plants that would announce location in the state within the next week to 10 days.

He also said that Arkansas "has received 85 per cent more federal grants during this administration than my predecessor received in the 12 years he served."

Rockefeller also said Crank wants to move back to the old days.

"On the national level, the Democrats have HHH," Rockefeller said. "In Arkansas, they have MMM—Marion, Marlin, Mutt." He was referring to Crank, Conway County Sheriff Marlin Hawkins and state Sen. Guy "Mutt" Jones.

University Students Favor Nixon

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — About 10 per cent of the University of Arkansas student body participated in a mock election Tuesday and elected Republican Richard M. Nixon as their choice for president.

Nixon pulled in 449 votes to defeat his Democratic opponent, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who got 221 votes, one more than third-party candidate George C. Wallace.

Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller polled 641 votes to 254 for Democrat Marlon H. Crank. Republican Maurice Britt defeated Democrat Bill Wells by a vote of 632-238 in the lieutenant governor's race.

The students chose Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., over Republican Charles T. Bernard 594-302; Rep. John Paul Hammer-schmidt, R-Ark., over Democrat Hardy Croxton 667-161; Republican Jerry Thomasson over Democrat Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell 446-390; Republican Lynn Davis over Democrat Secretary of State Kelly Bryant 523-317; Democrat state Treasurer Nancy Hall over Republican Mrs. Leona Traxell 442-384; Republican G.W. Tyler over Democrat state Auditor Jimmie Jones 428-389; and Republican Ed Allison over Democrat Land Commissioner Sam Jones 465-334.

Showers Are Expected for Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Showers and thunderstorms are expected to return to Arkansas by tonight and continue through Thursday as a high pressure system dominates the weather picture.

Scattered thundershowers dotted many portions of the state Tuesday but no measurable precipitation was recorded in the 24-hour period that ended at 7:30 a.m. at weather stations.

Low temperatures reported around the state this morning ranged from 59 degrees at Pine Bluff to 67 at Fayetteville.

High temperatures reported Tuesday ranged from 82 at Harrison to 90 at Blytheville.

Spectacular Things Seen for Future

By JIM STROTHMAN
AP Aerospace Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The daily Wally, Walt and Donn television show from the Apollo 7 is a forerunner of more spectacular things to come as America pushes outward toward the moon.

Included is a possible live telecast of an Apollo astronaut walking in the void of space from one ship to another early next year.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration, beset by budget problems, hopes the Apollo 7 TV shows will boost the popularity of the American space program.

"People are saying the space show is better than the Olympics," Paul Haney, director of public affairs for NASA's Manned Spacecraft Center, said Tuesday.

"I get the impression it is being very well received. The networks tell me they know it is in Europe," where the first show by Apollo 7 astronauts Walter M. Schirra Jr., Donn F. Eisele and Walter Cunningham was beamed live Monday.

"Television does have a place in the lunar mission," Haney continued in an interview. In Tuesday's telecast, when the pilots took viewers on an 11-minute tour of Apollo 7's interior, "people got to look around that spacecraft in a way you couldn't do with words."

Wallace to Be on All State Ballots

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer
WASHINGTON AP — The Supreme Court decision making George C. Wallace the first third party candidate to get on the presidential ballot in all 50 states holds important implications for his future and that of American politics far beyond the impact it will have Nov. 5.

In a 6-3 decision Tuesday the court ruled that Ohio cannot impose "unequal burdens" on small parties in the form of stiff election regulations unless there is a "compelling state interest."

The immediate effect was to put Wallace's name on the ballot in one of the largest electoral states and one where Republican nominee Richard M. Nixon is leading in most public opinion polls.

Although likely to attract some conservative votes from Nixon, Wallace also could be expected to bite into labor votes that might have gone to Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey.

Wallace generally is considered to have some strength among blue collar workers in the state's big industrial centers, especially Akron and Cleveland.

Although there have been no independent published surveys of Wallace strength. Estimates by Republicans and Democrats range from 10 to 25 per cent statewide, and much higher in some counties including Akron.

Ohio has 26 electoral votes. By getting on the ballot in every state Wallace has accomplished something that the highly popular Theodore Roosevelt, the well-regarded Robert M. La Follette and the controversial Henry A. Wallace were never able to do.

State laws have inhibited it since the Republicans blotted out the Whigs in pre-Civil War days.

But now the one-man, one-vote Supreme Court has decided that it, instead of the states, is the final judge of qualifications of voters.

Broke Tie Vote

The New York Yankees fell apart, prices have risen, our prestige abroad has fallen to a new low, what the country needs now is a good dime instead of a nickel cigar, and parking places are harder than ever to find.

Youth is rebellious, the old feel forgotten, and the middle aged feel that Uncle Sam is breaking their back with taxes.

Diplomatically, we're doing so badly that even Gen. Charles de Gaulle must be tempted to send us a get-well card. National politics is in a stew. The churches are in an uproar. Everyone is taking so many tranquilizers that soon they'll start putting them in chewing gum.

Yep, I have to admit that the world seems to be going pell-mell to Hades. But can the blame for all this be heaped on the head of one newspaper columnist?

Perhaps I nodded at the typewriter too often. Perhaps the world came unglued because I took too many long vacations.

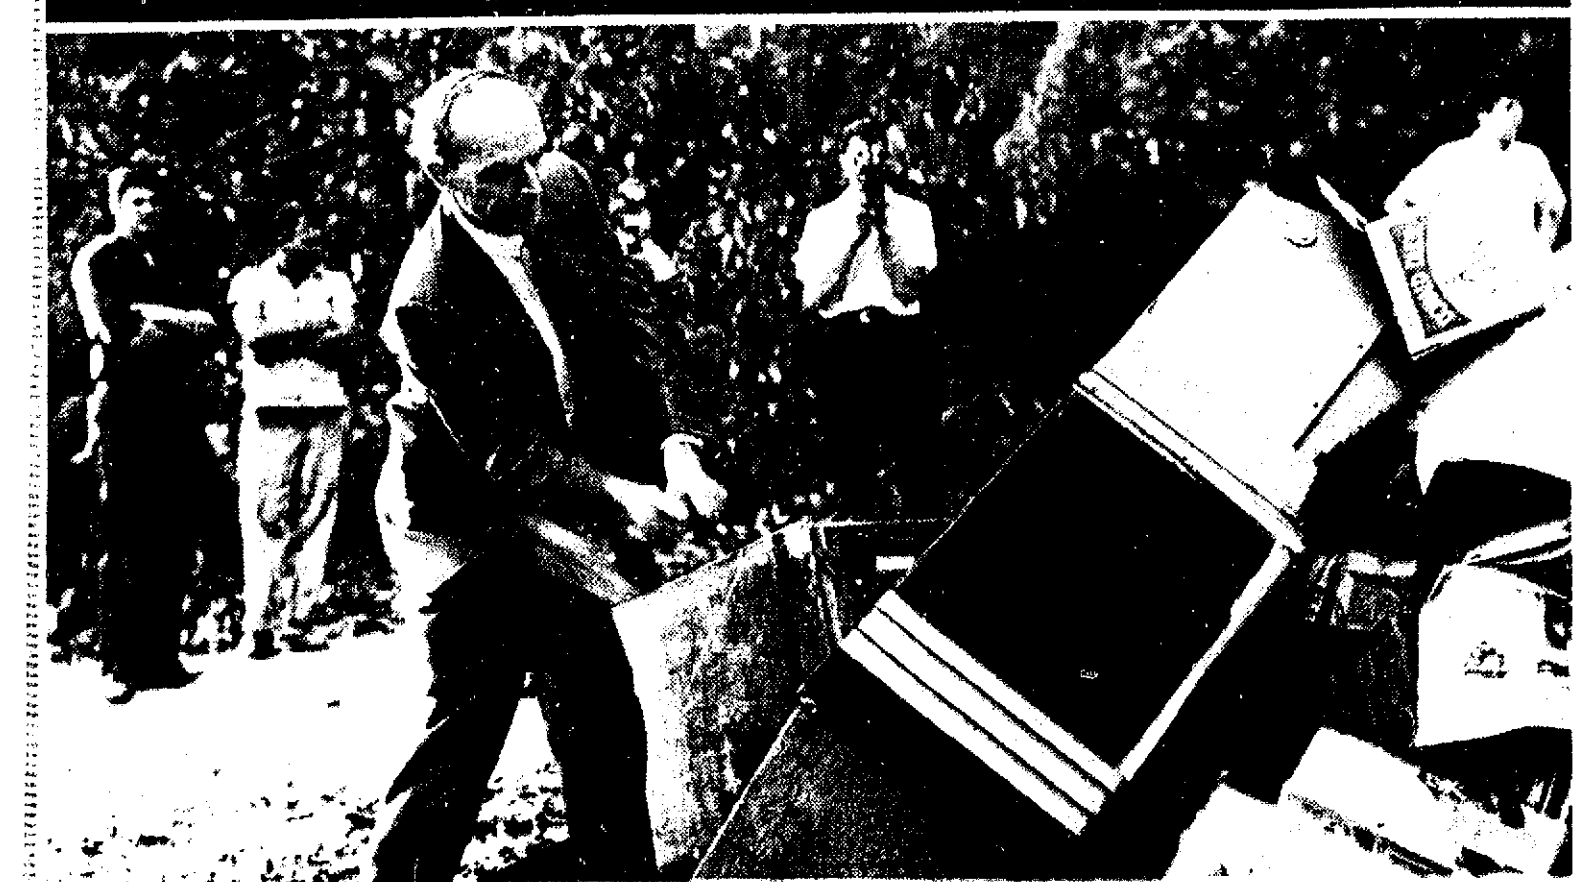

Anyway, I promise to try harder in the next 25 years. If, at the end of that time, we don't have a better world — well, I'll give it up as a bad job and go into some other line of work.

Machines Spew Chow For Everyone

By AILEEN SNODDY

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The gap between a man who patronizes the Metropolitan Opera Club for a quick dinner ($18.50 opening night) and a Shelbyville, Ind., home appliance plant employee feeding coins into a machine for coffee, ham and cheese are much closer than the 900-odd miles would indicate.

Both receive their mealtime pickup via the ingenuity of the vending machine food services industry.

Many children of the Depression years, and thus wary of the hill by hippie standards, fed the early machines with pennies for peanuts and gumballs.

World War II employment demands put food vending into the black. In 1946 Americans fed $600 million into vending machines. However, it wasn't until the majority of businesses gave in to labor's demands for coffee breaks and rest periods that food and refreshment vending companies realized a stable future. Those in the business anticipate $4.8 billion in retail sales this year.

Food vending, according to James O. Rogers, a canteen corp. executive, is a growth business that can produce $1.5 million to $3 million gross a year for a distributor in cities the size of Phoenix or Oklahoma City.

Contents have changed, though. The man on the street still inserts his coins first for cigarettes, hot cup beverages, candy, nuts, gums and biscuits, in that order.

But the trend to dining away from home finds vendors offering refinements such as casseroles and soups heated by microwaves and coffee freshly brewed in the machine. A bow to the diet-conscious means cottage cheese, grilled chopped steak and fruit salads for low-calorie lunches.

Rogers, however, patted his ample frontage while seated in the lush red banquet of a Metropolitan Opera restaurant here and heartily pooh-poohed further concessions to extremes in food for Americans.

"I'm distressed," he said, "to think others who enjoy food and the good life would even consider tossing down three pills or multicolored tablets and calling these a meal."

"I may be biased but just note the number of new cookbooks on the market. Most of the books use a chef's concept of what a housewife can prepare. I don't think people will give up the idea of eating."

Swiss-trained chef Henry Eschmann directs the vending firm's restaurant management division which operates the Met's restaurants. The company will operate a new hotel in Las Vegas in 1969 and another by 1970 near Chicago.

Eschmann echoed the belief that food will remain in its

Spa Ordinance on Speakers Ruled Invalid

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—A Hot Springs city ordinance prohibiting the use of loudspeakers has been ruled unconstitutional.

Circuit Court Judge Henry M. Britt of Hot Springs issued the ruling Monday on an appeal from Municipal Court of the case involving George Ray Hozendorf, 24, a campaign worker for Lynn Davis.

Davis is a Republican candidate for secretary of state. Police arrested Hozendorf last month on charges of failing to show a state license on his sound truck and operating a loudspeaker in violation of a city ordinance. He was fined on both charges.

Hozendorf contended that the ordinance conflicted with state law which permits political candidates to use sound equipment. Britt said the wording of the ordinance was too strict.

present edible state.

"Food concentrates," he said, "used by astronauts, for example, are highly nutritional. They usually are high in protein with no carbohydrates, no fatty acids."

To this Rogers interjected, "Sounds great. Do you realize what this will mean?"

"We will change the shapes of our bodies. We'll be skinny with no stomachs because they will shrink. There are great potentials in what can be done physically with food. But swallowing a pill rather than munching a steak? Is it really what we want in life?"

He admitted that he had more than a passing interest in seeing steak, carrots and chocolate cake appear in their familiar forms rather than as a red, orange or brown pill.

Yet the food vending services industry benefits from scientific and technological advances. Flash-frozen, freeze-dried and dehydrated items contribute to more varied office, factory, home or restaurant menus, he explained, and the processes offer more for less because they take up less shipping and storage space.

Eschmann agreed that more people in the United States eat foods the year 'round that once were occasional, expensive treats—all due to new techniques of processing and packaging.

However, he added, "We may see different food tastes in 35 to 40 years but not in the next 15, if it means pills and powders."

"People may be starving in other countries and we can help them with our food concentrates that supply all the needed proteins and vitamins."

"But for the rest," Rogers concluded, "you can't educate people to food. Food in the forms we know is here to stay."

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

AND NOW: A LOGICAL EXPLANATION TO POLTERGEISTS

Dear Helen: I have been reading with interest the letters, inspired by "Ghost's Host," concerning poltergeists.

We had an experience with these so-called invaders. The most probable explanation was that bottles slid off tables, collided with other objects, etc., because of vibrations from a large diesel-driven water pump three-quarters of a mile away. But word got around, and here is where the unhappiness started.

Newspaper reporters and a major national picture magazine irresponsibly linked the "poltergeist" to the pre-teen family member. You probably remember the great amount of copy devoted to the boy who made things break just by "being there."

Lives were disrupted and the small son suffered considerable social discomfort, through teasing and avid questioning.

We all know that the close passage of a very large truck will vibrate a house enough to cause dishes to rattle. But it is not thought weird because the sound of the truck is obvious. The source is not hidden.

We also know that mechanical vibrations can travel and can even be focused so that the result is unusual. The snap of a bull whip is an example of a mechanical wave in the whip which focuses on the tip to produce a very energetic sound and whip action.

In the instance mentioned above, the house and pump site were probably linked by the wet sand in an oak creek bed. For several months, in very cold weather, at seven in the morning when the faulty diesel pump was turned on to boost local water pressure, small objects in the house would leap and shake, sometimes crashing to the floor. Another home, half-way between the pump and the "haunted house" suffered repeated broken front door glass, and repeated failure of light bulbs in certain sockets.

Of course, evidence is unclear, because the temperature and moisture content of the linking stream bed kept changing. The water company did not identify the faulty pump as the cause, but the trouble stopped about the time the pump was repaired!

There are experts who trace down these "ghosts"—to very human causes. "Ghost's Host" should consult one. —C.A.Z.

Dear C: Now we know! And another fascinating ghost yarn exploded in a burst of facts. Thanks for bringing us up to date on a story which I always considered unfinished. I'm so very glad the boy hasn't been plagued with a poltergeist all these years! —H.

Dear Helen: My mother and father are divorced and both are remarried. My stepfather will be giving me away at my wedding, though my father will also attend. Here's the problem. My stepfather wants to invite his aunts and uncles whom I've never met,

Fairview Coming to Hope Friday

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sportswriter

In all of the nostalgia and flavor of Arkansas-Texas week and the Summer Olympics, many folks might tend to forget that there is an important football game to be played at Hammons Stadium this Friday night.

At least the Hope Bobcats hope so, as their crucial weapon against almighty Fairview will be the psychological advantage. For sure, Hope will be ready, willing, and able, but doubts enter into the picture when the name of the Fairview Cardinals perks up. Being 6-0 on the year, though, the Cards are solid bets not to forget the hard times they had in whipping the Bobcats 27-19 last season. However, it is common knowledge that Fairview could very easily be taking its biennial journey to Hope without enough apprehension.

This was the fate of the Bobcats in their trip to Smackover, when lethargic and overconfident play meant the difference in the Buckaroos' 13-6 upset. There are many preventive factors from that state of events reoccurring to the Bobcats this time, and among them is Homecoming.

The contest is not an "everything to gain, nothing to lose" battle, because Hope does have something to lose. Therefore, the Bobcats will play right with Fairview as long as possible, coincidentally using the same offensive and defensive formations.

Likely a determining factor will be the quickness of the line play. The Bobcats and Fairview are about on an even plane in size, but the Cardinals are not as tall and generally faster. So Hope's line will have to scramble and really play to their potential for the Bobcats to have a chance.

But the thing that has made Fairview so good is their ability to make their own breaks, and the only way they will lose is simply not to get the crucial big plays that the opponent gets.

Don't count on the Bobcats to come out in a gambling-type, all or nothing offense. Other schools have tried this against Fairview and failed miserably and besides, the Bobcats know that the Cardinals aren't great enough to overpower us.

The substitutes gained quite a bit of confidence in their 26-6 win over Prescott Monday night, with what Coach Jim Jordan termed "the team's best effort by far". Jordan also said that much improvement was shown in the performances of tackles Glen Rook and Ken Mullins, as well as end Simmons Smith, who snatched a 45-yard TD pass from halfback Dillon Wheelington.

All ready and eager to go are Gaylord Solomon's Bobkittens, with a 6-1 season their ultimate goal. To start on that path the Kittens put a 3-1 mark on the line tomorrow night in their Homecoming game against the ever-tough Nashville Scrappers.

After a week off and time for injuries to heal, the Bobkittens are now in great condition and have renewed enthusiasm from the two-week span without a game. They're anxious to hit the field, and they figure to be too much for Nashville's juniors, whose only loss in five games was a 26-7 decision to DeQueen. Hope beat DeQueen 13-7, thus giving the Bobkittens the nod in the game tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m. in Hammons Stadium.

New Teams Ready for 1969 Race

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON AP — The Kansas City Royals and the Seattle Pilots figure they are just about ready for entry in to the 1969 American League pennant race after mixing age with youth in taking 30 players each at a cost of $175,000 per man in the expansion draft.

Everyone was in a happy mood Tuesday after AL President Joe Cronin hustled the draft through its six hours with the help of an IBM computer which provided data on players in lightning fashion.

"I'm sure we put some holes in the draft, but I'm not completely satisfied with our personnel — and I won't be until we've won our division and the World Series," Seattle General Manager Marvin Milkes said.

"I think it was a very fair and equitable draft, the best in modern professional sports," Even the Boston Red Sox, who pocketed $1.05 million like other nine established clubs, were able to smile after losing six players, including regular third baseman Joe Foy and starting pitchers Gary Bell and Dave Morehead.

"We think we came out of it very good," Red Sox Manager Dick Williams said. "We were very lucky. We've protected a lot of young players."

Alworth Is Player of Week in AFL

NEW YORK (AP) — It's debatable whether Lance Alworth is greedier as the vice president of a successful chicken company or as a pass receiver for the San Diego Chargers.

Only naturally, of course, Alworth likes to see money coming in from his chickens. But he also likes to see the football coming to him from John Hadl. "To hear him tell it," says Hadl, San Diego's quarterback, "he's open on every play, I have to silence him four or five times in every game."

The chargers' opponents only wish they could silence the great flanker. He did it again last Sunday, this time to the Oakland Raiders as they were trying for a record-tying 15th straight victory.

Alworth caught nine passes for 182 yards, including one touchdown that helped the Chargers down the Raiders 23-14, and was named Tuesday the American Football League's offensive Player of the Week.

He won The Associated Press' award over Eric Crabtree, who caught five passes for 148 yards in Denver's victory over New York; Len Dawson, whose key passes helped Kansas City beat Cincinnati and Gary McDermott, who brought Buffalo a last-minute tie with Miami by catching a touchdown pass and then a two-point conversion toss.

the defending champion Raiders, gave him 30 for 571 yards, both high in the AFL.

Curiously enough, the 28-year-old veteran has won the league pass receiving crown only once — in 1966 to 73 catches.

Alworth after last season moved from Little Rock, Ark., to Nashville, Tenn., while establishing his chicken business. He also went to the Far East as part of a football group visiting military hospitals in Japan, Okinawa, Guam and The Philippines.

"I still can't get over what a great bunch of guys they were and how high their morale was. They were so curious about things at home. Little things—like miniskirts."

There are a lot of AFL defensive backs who would like to send Alworth back to Guam to give the troops the latest on miniskirts.

Alworth's catches against

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — (NEA) — Special assistant to the director of player personnel is Frank Lane's title with the Baltimore Orioles. A windy title, even for Frank Lane, who has stirred much turbulence in the baseball stratosphere.

"I'm a troubleshooter," he said, with compression. "And when there's no trouble, I make some. Then I smooth it over."

He does not always smooth things over. And, like a tornado, he nearly razed Chicago, St. Louis, Cleveland and Kansas City when his stunts as general manager in those beleaguered cities had blown over.

At 72, Frantic Frank Lane is hardly less frenetic than in previous days and his observations of the baseball panorama are still filled with crunchy controversy.

"The major leagues is diluting itself because the owners are a bunch of boobs," said Lane. And he was full steam ahead. "The way they're handling this expansion is horrible. Well, what can you expect? They know more about beer, television, gum and insurance than they do about baseball."

"Expansion is being worked completely backwards. If they had listened to Mr. Branch Rickey they wouldn't have this problem of weakening established teams and fielding puny new clubs."

"Mr. Rickey foresaw expansion. He knew it had to come because of the population explosion. His idea was the Continental League. At first it would have been stocked with Triple A and Double A players. In four years or so they would have reached major league caliber. Then you would have had, what, 200 more major leaguers."

"Now the majors are stumbling along with inferior teams. It's like calling your wife one evening, 'Honey, I'm bringing two more guests for dinner.' She says, 'But I only prepared for the six we already had invited.' Well, the man says, 'throw some more water in the soup.'"

"O.K., you've got more soup. But it's not any better. Right?"

It certainly seems that way. And the new teams, San Diego, Montreal, Kansas City and Seattle, are starting with cracker crumbs. They hardly hold enough water for tea, let alone diluted soup.

Baseball owners are avidly open to new ideas, provided the ideas are not any more modern than from Paleozoic days. And this puts Frank Lane in a stew.

"Any time I see something good," said Lane, "I'm the first to accept it. Even if I have to steal it. I've always been that way, even when I was a sports editor years ago in Cincinnati."

"I had the greatest pair of scissors in the business. I clipped all the star columnists—Grantland Rice, Frank Menke, Damon Runyon—and cut off their names and pasted mine on. My staff turned out the best copy in town. And the most copy. And we were a one-man staff. Me. My editor said, 'I don't know how you do it, Frank—and I don't want to know.'"

"But the baseball owners didn't want to take Rickey's ideas for their own. They were so smart they didn't need the best baseball brain around. But they're beginning to appreciate him now."

"That's like what Mark Twain said: 'At 14 I couldn't be near my father because he was so dumb. At 21 I was amazed at how much the old man had learned.'"

Oerter First to Win 4 Gold Medals

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Amazing Al Oerter became the first athlete in Olympic history to claim a fourth straight gold medal and Wyoming Tyus took her second consecutive gold Tuesday, giving the United States four victories in eight track and field events.

Oerter, the 32-year-old veteran from West Islip, N.Y., tossed the discus an Olympic record-shattering 212 feet, 6 1/2 inches to continue a victory string he started in 1956 at Melbourne, Australia.

Miss Tyus of Griffin, Ga., led a 1-2 American finish in the women's 100-meter dash, breaking the tape in a world record time of 11 seconds.

That smashed the mark of 11.1 which she shared with three others, including teammate Barbara Ferrell of Los Angeles, who took the silver medal Tuesday.

Miss Tyus' victory gave the United States a sweep of 100-meter events following Jimmy Hines' victory in the men's 100 Monday and ran America's gold medal haul to four. The United States also has two silver medals and two bronze.

The U.S. basketball team, meanwhile, gained its third straight victory, overwhelming the Philippines 96-75.

The only American disappointment of the track and field competition came in the 400-meter hurdles where favorites Ron Whitney of Boulder, Colo., and Geoff Vanderstock of Los Angeles trailed well behind the winner, David Paul Hemery of Great Britain.

Hemery ran away with the race in 48.1 seconds, smashing the accepted world record of 49.1 held by Rex Cawley of the United States and the pending mark of 48.8 by Vanderstock.

Tom Farrell of New York put on a great finishing kick and won a bronze medal for third place in the men's 800-meter race. Ralph Doubl of Australia took the race in 1:44.3, beating Wilson Kiprugut of Kenya in the stretch and tying Peter Snell's world mark.

In the men's 200-meter preliminary heats, Americans dominated. Tommie Smith of LeMoore, Calif., and John Carlos of San Jose, Calif., each won both of their heats with Smith's 20.2 in his second tying the Olympic mark set by Australia's Pter Norman earlier in the day. Larry Questad of Los Angeles ran 1-2 in his two trial heats.

Oerter, a salesman who rarely competes in his specialty except for the Olympics, was superb in the final, winning by better than 5 1/2 feet over Lothar Milde of East Germany. Ludvig Daneke of Czechoslovakia was third with 206-5.

Jay Silvester, a Smithfield, Utah, who has a pending world record of 224-5, finished fifth with 202-8 and Gary Carlsen of Los Angeles was sixth with 196-8.

Oerter won the discus for the first time at Melbourne in 1956, then repeated at Rome in 1960 and at Tokyo in 1964.

"I guess I'm very jealous of the gold medal," he said. "I don't want to give it to anyone else."

The strong U.S. showing, on the heels of Monday night's 1-3 medal finish by 100-meter dashmen Jim Hines and Charlie Greene, highlighted the early action on the third day of track and field competition in the Olympic Stadium.

American coarsmen swept through repechage—or second chance—qualifying heats in three events, with Harvard's eight-oared shell putting on a saving spurt at the finish to give the U.S. spots in six rowing semifinals and one final.

The Americans' gold medal harvest stood at two after victories by Hines and shot put king Randy Matson Monday night.

Carlos of San Jose Calif., won the first preliminary heat in a lousing 20.5 seconds

Form Players Expect Good Day as Conference Clashes Dominate Sked

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
Pigskin Genius

Egad, friends, this is the Saturday the chalk players—kaff-kaff—get even for the year as the favored eleven figure to be easy winners.

Most major conference members are slated to see league action and there are few surprises in store.

One notable exception will be the Tennessee-Alabama engagement in the Southeastern Conference. The Hoople System sees the underdog Crimson Tide edging the defending champion Volunteers, 14-13.

There are four Big Ten games on tap, with rugged Ohio State entertaining Northwestern, Michigan State hosting Minnesota, Indiana visiting potent Michigan and winless Wisconsin journeying to Iowa to test the revived Hawkeyes.

The Big Eight schedule features Kansas-Oklahoma State, Colorado-Kansas State, Nebraska-Missouri and Oklahoma-Iowa State. I predict victories for Kansas, Colorado, Nebraska and the Oklahoma Sooners—um-kumph!

In Pacific Eight competition, Southern California meets Washington, Stanford plays Washington State at Spokane, and UCLA's Bruins tangle with California's Golden Bears at Berkeley. Southern California will have an easy time of it but UCLA and Stanford will earn their hard-won triumphs.

Three big contests are on the Southwest Conference slate as Texas meets Arkansas, Texas A&M hosts TCU, and SMU welcomes Rice to Dallas.

The Texas Longhorns, who have finally hit their stride, will win by two touchdowns, over Arkansas, 38-24. Make it Texas A&M 27, TCU 18, and SMU over Rice, 33-7.

The Hoople Three Star Special last week—Michigan to whip Michigan State—was a real tub-thumper—hah-hah-hah. And this week we have another dandy for you.

NEA Executive Editor

NEW ORLEANS, La. — (NEA) — As professional football blissfully approaches the millennium of complete merger, less than two seasons away, the credibility gap between talent in the two existing leagues has been virtually bridged.

Exhibit A in the rapprochement: Jerry Sturm, regular offensive tackle of the New Orleans Saints.

The official guide of the Saints—price $1—archly suggests that Jerry is a second-year man, but covers itself with an asterisk. The explanatory footnote adds, "Has additional pro experience."

He sure does. Jerry is 31, fast approaching 32, and after an afternoon of pounding heads on the forward wall, you could call him a grizzled veteran. His corn-blond hair hangs in unmanageable strands, there's a gap where a couple of front teeth used to be, and in the late afternoon the light beard has penetrated the skin of his face. He started playing professional football, in 1959, with the Calgary Stampers of the Canadian League.

But what makes Jerry extra special, and bolsters the argument of parity between the National and American Football Leagues, is that he's an AFL castoff who's holding down a regular job in the sedate (sometimes pompous) older circuit.

Jerry played six rigorous years in the AFL with the Denver Broncos, and part of a seventh with the Oakland Raiders, before he was cut adrift in mid-season of 1967. He had participated in two AFL All-Star games. In his AFL tenure, he was primarily a guard who doubled up occasionally as an offensive center.

A week after he joined the New Orleans expansion team last fall, the first week in November, Jerry was the regular left tackle on the offensive unit, and he hasn't been budged yet.

In December, he jostled head-to-head with Ordell Braase, an 11-year veteran having his greatest season with the Baltimore Colts, and Jerry was awarded a trophy as the Saints' "blocker of the week."

"The only difference I see between the leagues," said Jerry, "is in the quarterbacks. They got more good ones over here. In the AFL, you got (Joe) Namath and (John) Hadl, and then you start scratching."

But in the actual match-ups along the front wall, Jerry can scarcely recall the names of the men against whom he has butted his helmet since he joined the Saints. Braase was simply "that old guy with the Colts." He did remember Lamar Lundy of the Los Angeles Rams Awesome Foursome. But he didn't need to have his memory jogged when it came to his old AFL adversaries—guys like Buck Buchanan, Ernie Ladd, Tom Keating, Tom Sestak.

"I supposed," he said diplomatically, "we got more depth in the NFL, and you see more standard defenses—over there they use more 'odd man' lines and lots of stunting. But otherwise I couldn't pick one over the other. I'm just glad to be in the NFL. It was a challenge after all the years of hearing about what it was like."

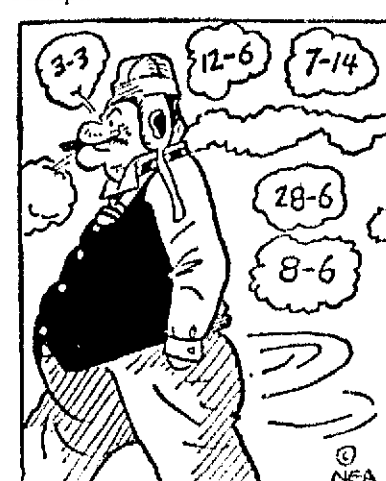

Of course, Jerry was well-fortified physically and tactically for his late-career switch. A former high school basketball star from Terre Haute, Ind., who went to Illinois on a cage scholarship, he has filled out into one of those bulky characters who make an invasion of the locker room look like an excursion to Olympus.

"Weigh 257 now," said Jerry, patting his firm stomach. "Lightest I've been in years. Got to when you get older."

The reverse flow of talent from the AFL to the NFL isn't limited to Sturm. His old teammate from the Broncos, Austin Gonsoulin, was a starting safety with the San Francisco 49ers part of last season and only quit this year when he flunked his physical. Willie Williams, who couldn't make it with the Raiders, is the best defensive back on the undefeated Giants. Other active AFL discards who bridged the gap are tight end Tom Mitchell (ex-Oakland) of Baltimore, flanker Dick Compton (ex-Houston) of Pittsburgh, halfback Clem Daniels (ex-Raider) of San Francisco and quarterback John Huarte (ex-Boston) of Philadelphia.

They don't exactly belong on an all-star roster. But as pros, they do have credibility.

grip on the '68 Lambert Trophy by upending the nation's No. 2 team, Penn State. In a real old-fashioned donnybrook the Orange lads will conquer the Nittany Lions, 23-21—harrumph!

Escape Artist
One of the most notorious escape artists of all time was John Sheppard, an early 18th-century English criminal. Crowds paid to see him in the prison. When he was finally hanged at Tyburn, the execution was viewed by 200,000 persons, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

A doctor, 42, was on a night flight back to the United States after a vacation in Europe when he was awakened by pains in the chest and shortness of breath. He thought at once that he was having a heart attack and arranged to have himself taken from the plane to a hospital near the airport. At the hospital, the doctors quickly discovered that their colleague was not having a heart attack but had a blood clot in his lungs.

Prompt treatment of this very serious condition saved this doctor's life, but only about 30 per cent of all lung clots are correctly diagnosed before death. They may be mistaken for heart disease, pneumonia, emphysema, pleurisy, chronic bronchitis or asthma. The cause of the clotting in this and many similar cases is impaired circulation to the legs, aggravated by exhaustion after a strenuous vacation and sleeping sitting up in a cramped position. The clot in the legs breaks off and lodges in the lungs.

Lung clots in persons making flights lasting more than two hours can be prevented by taking a short walk in the aisle every 50 or 60 minutes and by frequently wiggling the toes while sitting. Since the same hazard is involved in long auto trips, it is wise to stop frequently and get out of the car for a couple of minutes.

A person who has varicose veins is especially vulnerable.
He should not take a long plane trip unless he is wearing individually fitted elastic stockings. Since these stockings may slip down and form a bunch below the knees they should be supported with a garter belt or the top should be taped to the skin. Tight girdles, however, may interfere with the circulation in persons who sit in a cramped position for a long period.

Unserious Side of an Arkansas Autumn Day

Brooks Shults of Fulton says this is the current story in banking circles:
A farmer won the $500,000 grand prize in a lottery. He got plenty of advice on what to do with the money.
His investment counselor told him he should put it into bonds, retire, and live off the interest.
"But no," said the farmer studying the $500,000 check, "I think I'll just go on farming until I've used it all up."

Every business has a similar documentary. Consider the case of a country newspaper publisher who retired with a fortune and such a reputation for success that he was invited to address a college journalism class.
"Yes," he told them, "I made my mark running a country newspaper, and have maybe half a million to show for it. But everything I have is due to a lifetime of hard work, a thrifty wife — and an uncle who died and left me $495,000."

The world's record for the briefest play review has, up to now, been held by the late Eugene Field of the Chicago Tribune. "King Lear" played Chicago, and the next morning Field wrote: "The trouble was, the actor who played the king kept looking around as though he was afraid someone would play the ace."
Now Field's record for brevity has been broken by Clive Barnes, drama critic for the New York Times. This morning's Wall Street Journal reports this about Barnes, who worked in London before coming to New York: "When Mr. Barnes doesn't like a play he lets his readers know. His one-word review for the London Daily Express of a production called 'The Cupboard':
"Bare."

My operator 007 for the Good Humor Account, L. Carter Johnson, dug this one from an Acousticon bulletin:
It was the start of a holiday weekend and the service station was crowded.
Finally, an attendant hustled up to the parish priest, who had been waiting in line for some time. "I'm sorry about the delay, Father," the attendant apologized. "Seems like everybody waits until the last minute to get ready for a trip which they knew they were going on."

The priest smiled. "I know what you mean," he said. "I have the same problem in my business."

Slots Burned, Old Coins Are Found

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — N. O. Bledsoe, the owner of 404 slot machines discovered last month in a raid here, said Tuesday all the gambling devices have been destroyed.

Bledsoe has been charged with illegally keeping the machines, which he said were in a novelty company building when he bought it 20 years ago. He said the devices hadn't been used under his ownership. He had volunteered to destroy the machines.
Bledsoe said scrap metal from the machines weighed 8,750 pounds and was sold for $21.87, with the money going to the El Dorado United Fund campaign.
Bledsoe also said that valuable coins with a face value of between $200 and $300 were recovered from the machines. He said he planned to sort them and possibly sell them to coin dealers.

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — The Pine Bluff Commercial Tuesday editorially endorsed Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller for a second term.
The newspaper said that Rockefeller towered over his Democratic opponent, Marion H. Crank, "by almost any standard except that of political manipulation."
Rockefeller's intentions are unimpeachable, his candor refreshing, the Commercial said, "and he hasn't stopped at the state line in his search for quality."

Shooting at Prison Is Investigated

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Board of Correction Tuesday launched its investigation into Monday's shooting of 23 inmates at Cummins Prison Farm.

The board met behind closed doors for about 90 minutes Tuesday. Board Chairman Haley of Little Rock said after the meeting there was evidence that the sitdown strike by inmates that precipitated the shooting had been planned for several days.

He said there was evidence that the sitdown was "planned for a most public place on the farm by about 10 per cent of the inmate population," to attract sympathy for wholesale commotion or riot.

Haley said a legislative act gave authorization to prison officials to use firearms to quell disturbances. He also indicated that the board believed some urgent measure was required to force the inmates to move when they congregated for the sitdown strike.

Haley described the leaders of the demonstrators as "hard-core" inmates, who he said planned the demonstration so that some 600 or 700 inmates would pass nearby. He said they hoped to get support from this group.

He said had the inmates not moved, much of the prison population might have become involved. He speculated that critics then would have demanded to know why something had not been done to prevent the situation.

Writing a Column Can Be Odd and Lonesome, Sometimes Rewarding

BY HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — The late Don Marquis once described writing a newspaper column as "digging a daily grave."
Glancing at a calendar recently, I was surprised to note that I have now spent 25 years in this odd, lonesome and sometimes rewarding industry.

The nation as a whole seems to have taken my silver anniversary pretty much in stride. Congress in its rush to adjourn failed to pass any resolution of congratulation. President Johnson neglected to declare a national holiday. No flags were specially flown for the occasion, no gunshots were fired, no church bells pealed in celebration.

Sometimes I get the feeling that this country is becoming too sophisticated for its own good.
A quarter of a century isn't a long time in the life of a public building or a redwood tree, but it does take toll of a man. The turmoil of churning out some 6,000 columns has removed some of the starch from my spinal column and left me noticeably shorter of hair, breath, teeth, and sometimes—when dealing with press agents—of

Gubernatorial Foes Both on Defensive Side in Campaign

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Gubernatorial candidates Marcon H. Crank and Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller were both on the defensive side of things Tuesday as they campaigned for votes in the Nov. 5 general election.

Crank went on television Tuesday night to defend having his 8-year-old daughter on the state payroll. Rockefeller, at a regional rally at Pine Bluff which drew an estimated 5,000 persons, defended his administration as helping industrial development in the state.

In defending his daughter's addition to the payroll, Crank cited other cases to show that Rockefeller was "not as spotless as he would have you believe."

His daughter was hired to work in the legislature when she was eight. She is listed on payroll records as a clerk and drew $100 a week from the state.

"The job she had was one she could do," Crank said. "An 8-year-old girl or boy can carry messages and run errands in working in the House just as well as an 18-year-old or an adult."

Crank said his daughter needed the money, and said, "This is something Mr. Rockefeller cannot understand. Certainly, Mr. Rockefeller never had to accept employment in his whole life, and the same would be true of his children."

Crank said it was "common practice" for both Democrats and Republicans.

He referred to a case in August 1967 when former prison Supl. Thomas O. Murton was still superintendent. Murton's mother and sister were hired by the state Revenue Department.

When asked about this, Rockefeller said he didn't know Murton's relatives were on the payroll, but said it was traditional in Arkansas for relatives to be employed by the state.

Crank also cited several Republicans who had friends and relatives on state payrolls.

Crank said that John Haley, chairman of the state Board of Correction, had a personal secretary, Cynthia Houchin, who was listed on the Department of Correction payroll as a state prison warden.

"We will wait and see if Mr. Rockefeller contends that this lady actually served as a warden at the state prison," Crank said.

Haley denied the charge. He said Mrs. Houchin had been a secretary for the state Board of Correction until March 1 but that she had been paid under the line-item of warden because each state employee must have a line item appropriation, including prison employees.

Haley said he hired Mrs. Houchin March 1 as his personal secretary in his law office at Little Rock. He said that even as his personal secretary, Mrs. Houchin devoted half her time to working on state matters while on Haley's payroll.

Crank also said Tuesday that he was working on a formula which would allow cities, counties and the state to participate in general revenues in an equitable, percentage basis.

At Pine Bluff, Rockefeller told the Pine Bluff Ministerial Alliance that he still favors a state law permitting the sale of mixed drinks.

He said that such a law that strictly regulated establishments.

Hurricane Gladys Is Building

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Fidel Castro's "island of youth" was pounded today by the strongest winds in tropical storm Gladys as the 60 mile per hour gales gained strength and moved toward parts of Florida already on hurricane watch.

The Isle of Pines, a colony of the young 50 miles south of Cuba, has about 50,000 residents.

The Cuban government suspended flights from Havana to the island as intensity of the storm neared the 74 m.p.h. level of a full hurricane. Forecasters said Gladys might reach hurricane strength even as it passed over the Cuban mountains, a passage usually counted on to break the back of hurricanes.

Economic Slowdown Signaled

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the government's principal economic signals, the gross national product, has flashed another SOS about inflation. But the top White House economist says a welcome slowdown already has begun.

The Commerce Department estimated Tuesday the GNP-market value of all of the nation's goods and services—rose in the third quarter by nearly $18 billion, to an adjusted annual rate of $78.8 billion.

It was the fifth consecutive quarter of major increases—bad news when demand exceeds supply and pushes prices up. The third quarter performance was the equivalent of an annual growth rate of 4.8 per cent. Government economists commonly describe anything above 4 per cent as inflationary.

While he acknowledged that the GNP had taken a "large" step up, Arthur M. Okun, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, noted the total increase was less than the $21.7 billion rise posted in the second quarter.

Reception for Wallace Restrained

LOS ANGELES (AP) — George C. Wallace received a restrained but polite reception Tuesday as he wound up a three-day California swing with speeches at three aerospace plants and by fielding questions from the audience on a national television show.

The American Independent party's presidential candidate goes to Alamogordo, N.M., and Texas today.

A Negro, who identified himself as Booker Terry Sharp, a Los Angeles cement mason, drew loud applause at the Joey Bishop TV show when, as the last question from the audience, he said: "What we need in this country is a president who will unify the people, not divide them. What are you going to do about that?"

"I agree with you," Wallace began before Bishop stopped further discussion by saying that Wallace now was over the time given other presidential candidates who appeared on the show. The program, on the American Broadcasting Co., was taped for showing tonight.

Earlier Wallace spoke at Hughes Aircraft in Culver City; at TRW Systems in Redondo Beach and Aerojet General in Downey. For the most part, the employees listened silently, although there were occasional bursts of applause and some boos.

Wallace told about 4,000 TRW workers "it's really difficult for me to speak to an orderly crowd. It really throws me, if you want to know the truth."

Presidential Candidates Make Claims

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Republican Richard M. Nixon claims he's leading the three-way presidential race in every major state and says he is driving now for "the fastest finish in campaign history."

Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey elaborated on his North Vietnam bombing halt stand meanwhile Tuesday, and said he will not compromise his civil rights position regardless of the effect on his election chances.

And a Supreme Court decision putting George C. Wallace on Ohio's ballot has made him the first third party candidate in modern history to go on the ballot in every state.

Nixon expressed high confidence over his chances at a Miami news conference Tuesday but said he is taking steps to ward off overconfidence. He dubbed his drive between now and election day "Operation Extra Effort."

"We are going to play it safe," he said. "We are going all out on the issues, on the appearances, on the activity, between now and election."

Nixon claimed Wallace "has topped out" at about 15 per cent of the popular vote according to GOP polls, and accused Humphrey of panicking into using "tactics of fear and smear."

The Republican accused Humphrey of "a deliberate untruth," a suggestion that Nixon's election might lead to Social Security and medicare cutbacks, and said:

"I think he (Humphrey) is

U.S. Denies Peace Report From Saigon

WASHINGTON (AP) — A White House spokesman said today "there has been no basic change in the situation—no breakthrough" in the long effort for a peaceful settlement of the Vietnam war.

Presidential press secretary George Christian issued this statement at 10 a.m. EDT amid reports from Saigon and Paris that a major new peace move might be imminent, perhaps including a halt to the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

The text of Christian's brief statement, issued as a "memorandum for the press" following numerous inquiries:

"The position of the United States with respect to Vietnam remains as set forth by the President and the secretary of state.

"There has been no basic change in the situation: No breakthrough.

"As you have always been advised, when there is anything to report, you will, of course, be informed promptly."

By JOHN T. WHEELER

Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The United States has proposed a full halt in the bombing of North Vietnam and is now discussing the proposal with the Saigon government, a senior South Vietnamese political official said today.

The source, who declined to be quoted by name, said President Nguyen Van Thieu had told the top members of his regime the Communists must guarantee they will not escalate the war if a bombing halt is called.

Thieu also said any decision to halt the bombing must be agreed to by the South Vietnamese government; the source said.

"We'll know within the next 24 hours," the official added.

Thieu and U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker held three meetings today, the first—at Bunker's request—at 6:45 a.m. Separate sessions involving the Cabinet and top political figures in the government and the legislature also were held at the presidential palace.

The meetings set off a wave of reports and rumors that an important development was in the works, but there was no official announcement.

A spokesman for the U.S. Mission said: "The reports are purely speculative and the mission has no comment on them."

Another South Vietnamese government source told newsmen to be on the alert for a statement that might be issued in Washington and Saigon on the bombing. Although American sources declined to discuss the talks, one suggested that newsmen keep in touch through the night.

A halt in the bombing would constitute a major U.S. peace offensive aimed at getting the 6-month-old Paris peace talks moving as well as a major concession by the United States. Heretofore, the United States has demanded indications at least that the North Vietnamese would make some reciprocal de-escalation of the war in exchange for a halt in the bombing, while the North Vietnamese have insisted repeatedly that a complete, unconditional cutoff of all American attacks on the North is essential before any progress can be made in the negotiations.

Promises No Special Groups If Elected

PARAGOULD, Ark. (AP) — G. W. "Whitey" Tyler, Republican nominee for state auditor, said Tuesday that if he is elected he would "neither be led or misled by special interest groups."

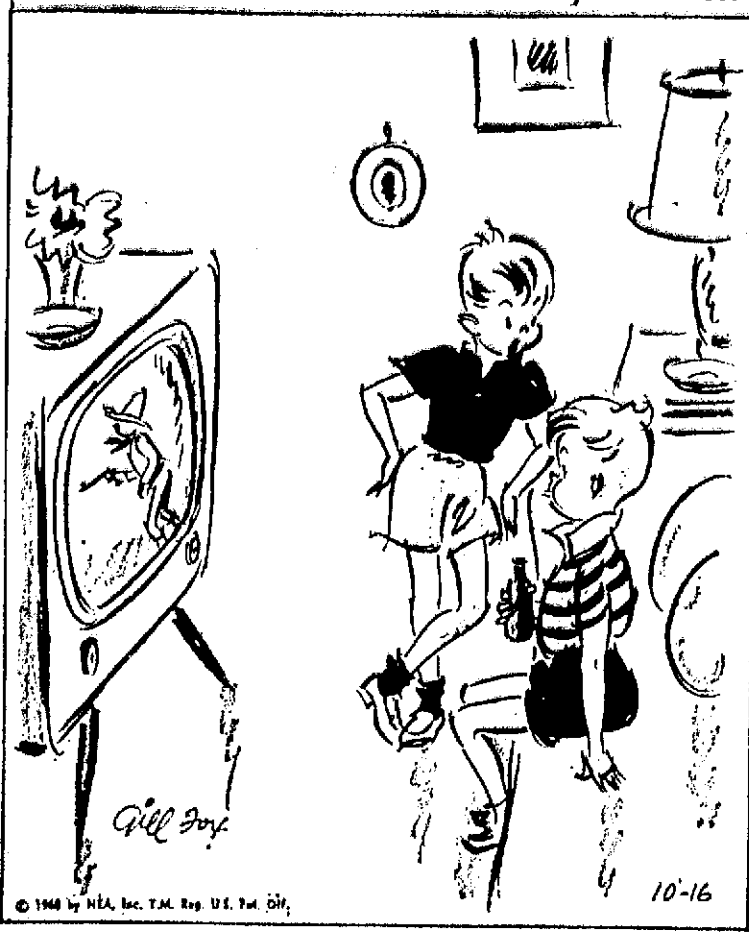

Tyler said that the election of a full slate of Republican constitutional officers could save the state $10 million a year.

Tyler, who is opposing incumbent Jimmie Jones, said on a handshaking tour here that honest government would be provided by the Republicans and thereby save the state money.

Inflation Has Hit the United Nations

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Inflation has hit the United Nations, and Secretary-General Assembly for more money to pay its bills.

Because the cost of living has risen, he wants the assembly to raise the salaries next Jan. 1 of the U.N.'s professional and higher-ranking employees 5 per cent above the level set three years earlier.

The raise would result in gross salaries ranging from $7,600 a year for a starting assistant officer to $36,850 a year for an undersecretary-general.

Net salaries, after deduction of a staff tax, would range from $6,200 to $24,867.50. For a U. N. employee, his net salary corresponds to what an American on a regular job takes home out of his pay check.

The increase was recommended by the International Civil Service Advisory Board. It would add $3,741,300 a year to the U.N. budget.

The budget advisory committee also recommended that the assembly give him $1,356,800 in supplemental appropriations that would raise the final 1968 budget to $141,787,750.

Thant has recommended that the starting budget for 1969 be $140,520,210.

90th Congress Called Good, Not Great

By JOE HALL

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The 90th Congress, described by a Senate leader as good but not great, is over.

After trying for three days to muster the House quorum needed to approve adjournment, leaders gave up Monday and voted anyway to end the session.

This was possible because no one in either the House or Senate raised the question of a quorum.

The House completed its business at 2 p.m. and the Senate followed 17 minutes later.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., pronounced this verdict:

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
The secret of happiness is this; let your interests be as wide as possible, and let your reactions to the things and persons that interest you be as far as possible friendly rather than hostile. — Bertrand Russell said it.

SCHOOL NOTES

The 11-B class of Yerger High School met October 8 in Harris Gymnasium for the purpose of electing officers for the year 1968-69.

They are as follows: President, Meredith Watkins; Vice-President, Alvin Flenory; Secretary, Elizabeth Milus; Assistant Secretary, Barbara Cubit; Reporter, Lue Kathryn Block; Assistant Reporter, Lenall Willis; Song Leader, Betty Williams; Assistant Song Leader, Lenall Willis; Pianist, Linda Nelson. Student Council Representatives: Alvin Flenory, Shirley Stuart, and Meredith Watkins.

Homecoming Queen was also taken under consideration. Queen for this class will be Miss Melba Jean Thomas; her escort, Alvin Flenory. Miss M. B. McKillion, Sponsor.

The 11-A class of Yerger High School elected officers for the 1968-69 school year as follows: President, Vera Williams, Vice-President, Jerrel Lawson; Secretary, Norma Smith; Treasurer, Yvonne Smith; Reporter, Margaret Mauldin. Student Council Representatives: Thomas Williams, Stanley Wilson, and Margaret Mauldin. Mr. Willie Tate, Sponsor.

A poor Congress.

The 90th passed much significant legislation including a civil rights bill with a broad open housing provision, anti-crime and gun control measures, a big increase in Social Security benefits, a temporary 10 per cent income tax hike, an omnibus housing bill containing new ways to help poor families buy homes, a "truth-in-lending" measure, and several important conservation bills.

But it also handed President Johnson some major defeats, including his historic blocking of his nomination of Abe Fortas to be chief justice of the United States.

It also failed to act on such key Johnson requests as ratification of the nuclear nonproliferation treaty, his proposal to change the Constitution to lower the voting age to 18, election reform legislation, extension of the reciprocal trade program. Johnson said he might call the Senate back after the Nov. 5 election to try to win approval of the nonproliferation treaty.

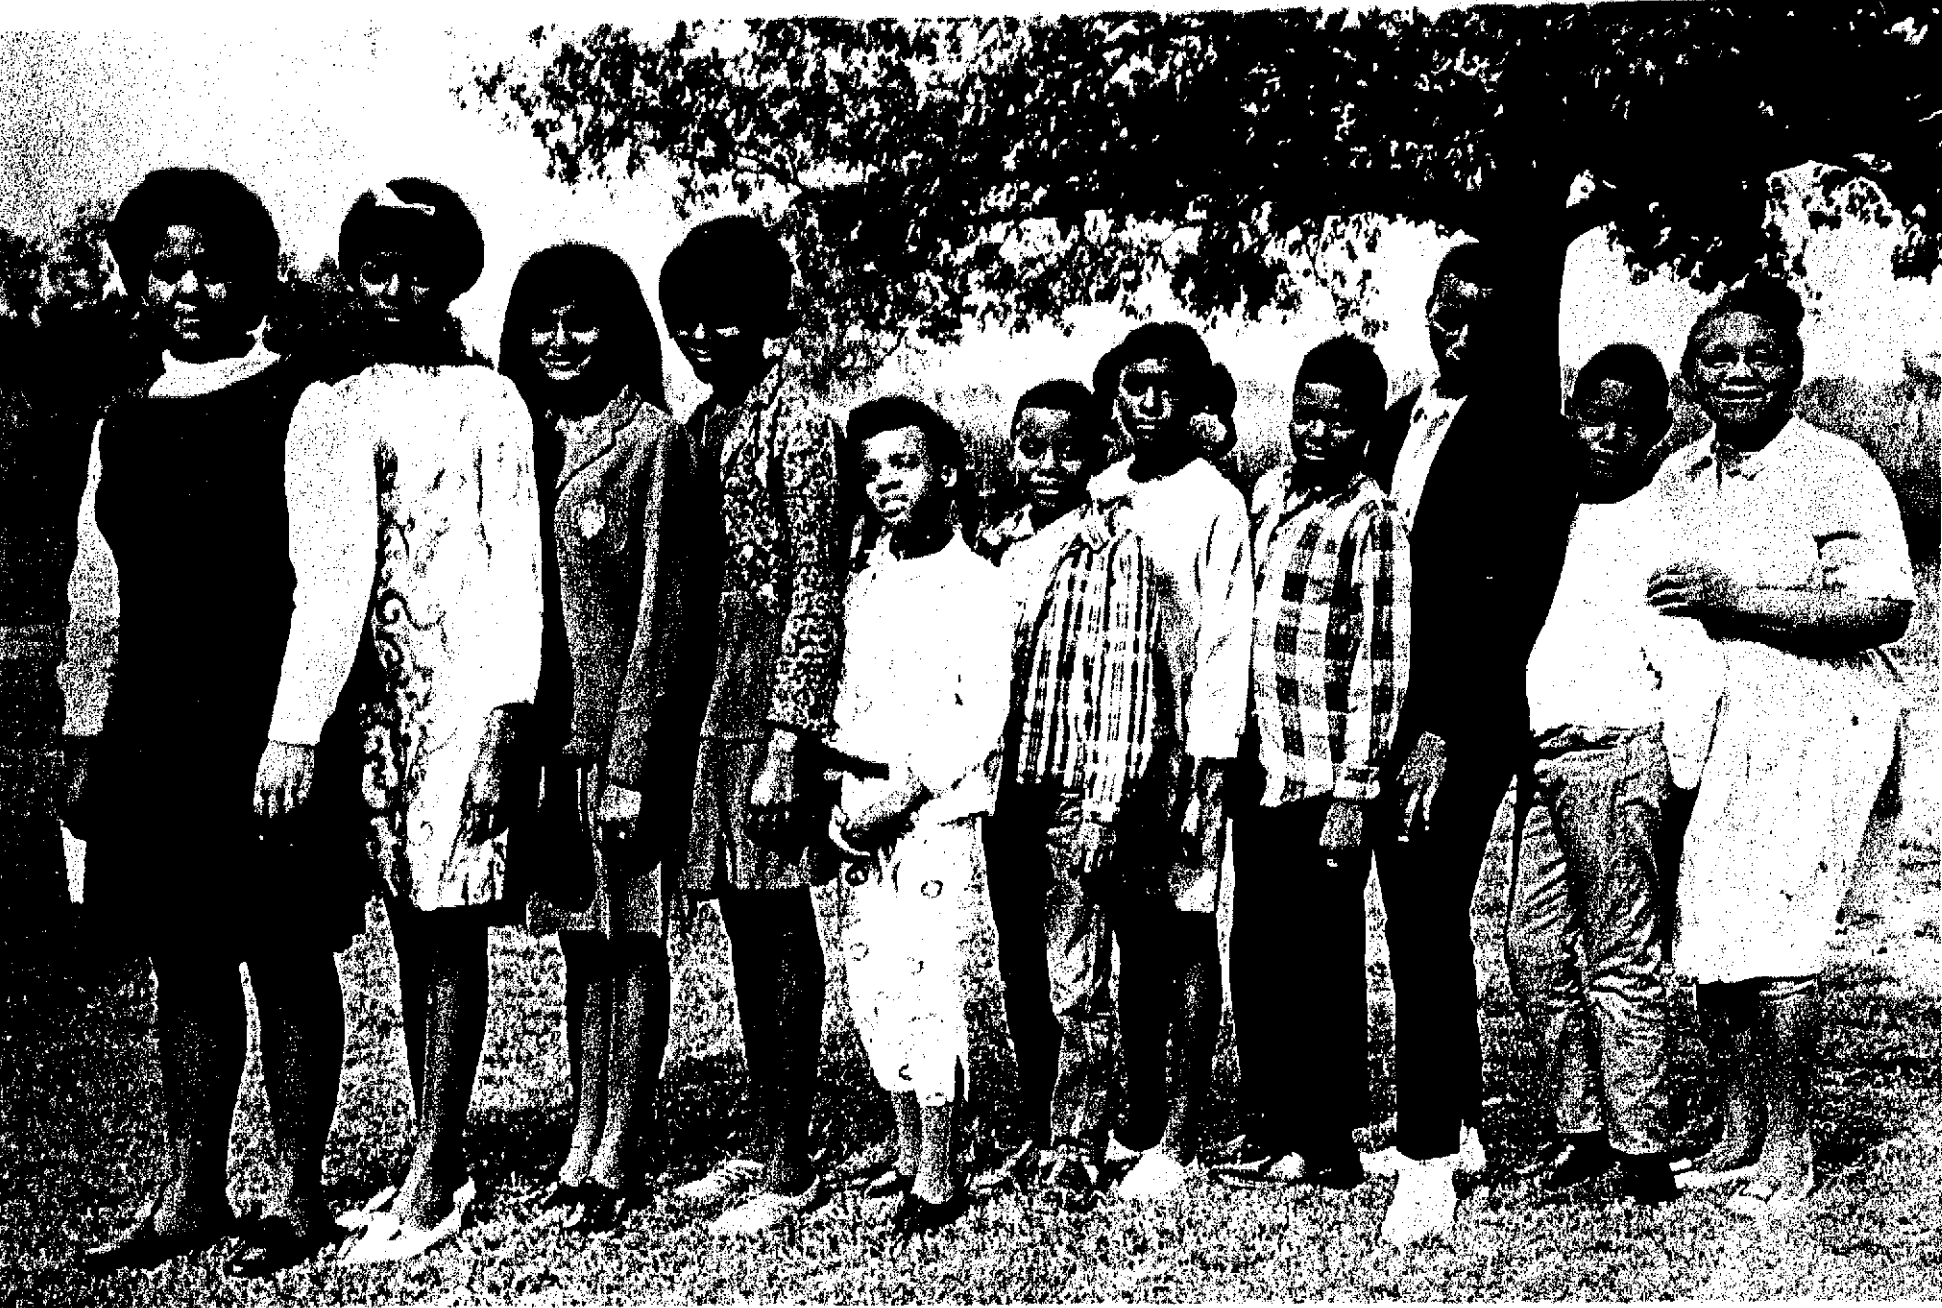

But Senate leaders counseled against this. Mansfield promised to make the treaty one of the first pieces of business of the new congress in January.

Assuming there is no special session, the 91st will convene at noon Jan. 3.

A band of House Democrats abandoned efforts Monday to keep their branch in session indefinitely to try to force the Senate to act on a bill which would permit televised debates between the three leading presidential contenders.

Rep. James G. O'Hara, D-Mich., said he was convinced it would be futile to prolong the session.

Wants Borneo Claims Before World Court

By TOM HOGE

Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Philippines called on Malaysia again today to join in placing their rival claims to the Borneo state of Sabah before the World Court.

Philippine Foreign Secretary Narciso Ramos made the appeal in a policy speech before the 125-nation U.N. General Assembly.

Earlier, Prime Minister Abdul Rahman told a special session of the Malaysian Parliament in Kuala Lumpur that tensions could be eased only if the Philippines accepts Sabah as a constituent state of Malaysia.

Ramos spelled out his government's 90-year-old claim to the former British colony. He produced a copy of a document signed in 1878 by the Sultan of Sulu, who ceded part of the territory that became Sabah in 1963 to the British. The rest of the former Sultanate of Sulu is now Philippine territory.

Asserting that his government would continue to press its claim, Ramos assured the assembly that it would do so "only by peaceful means."

"Territorial disputes have been the cause of some of the bloodiest wars in history," said Ramos. "The Philippines as a party to a territorial dispute now comes forward to fore-swear any recourse to violence and affirms instead that it is prepared to argue its case before a competent tribunal and to accept without reservation the judgment of that tribunal."

He said Malaysia should have nothing to fear from a court ruling if its case is as sound as it claims. Malaysia says Sabah is part of its territory and it won't entertain any challenge to its sovereignty.

Ramos is to meet Malaysian Deputy Prime Minister Tun Abdul Razak in Tokyo after Oct. 22, but Razak said they will discuss easing tensions between the two governments and not Sabah. Although Malaysian officials insist Sabah is not negotiable, the meeting was seen as a break in the diplomatic stalemate that set in when President Ferdinand E. Marcos of the Philippines signed a bill Sept. 18 claiming Sabah as Philippine territory and Malaysian Prime Minister Rahman suspended diplomatic relations with the Philippines.

Elsewhere at the Assembly—Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad said his govern-

This Gaslite Jack-o-Lantern will turn into a pumpkin the day after Halloween.

And it's free when you buy a Gaslite..!

A TWO-HOLIDAY decoration for your Gaslite, a jack-o-lantern that adds Halloween zest to your lawn! Then, when the trick-or-treaters are gone, peel off the "face" and it's a big pumpkin making a festive welcome to Thanksgiving. The durable, vinyl pumpkin can be used again next year, too.

IT'S FREE when you buy a Gaslite by Arkla. 10 models, no money down - low payments on your gas bill.

FOR YOUR PRESENT Gaslite, the jack-o-lantern costs only $5, plus tax. Buy Gaslites from any Arkla employee.

Offer good only until November 30, 1968.
